Guidelines for submission of articles and news items

Articles/columns should be submitted to eric.franco@legaldelta.com. Articles should normally fall in the range between one printed page (700 words) and five printed pages (3,000 words).

The author's name will appear with title but without post-nominal letters etc. Please provide a very short description (<20 words), which should include the author's name, firm or organisation, city, country, and email. For example: '[name] is a partner of […] in [city, country] and can be contacted at [email].'

As this publication is aimed at busy lawyers, please provide a 50- to 100-word summary, which would serve as the 'standfirst' (or introductory paragraph). This summary could be written in the form of a question or could state a problem that the article then deals with, or could take the form of some bullet points. Article titles should be 5–10 words long.

Endnotes are to be used for citations only. Footnotes are not used in this publication.

We welcome any graphs or other visual illustrations, including photographs that enhance the article.

The Editorial Board cannot guarantee publication. All contributions may be subject to evaluation by the Editorial Board prior to publication.

Updates can be of any length up to a page (700 words). Normally they would be shorter, and may be as little as a couple of sentences.

Terms and conditions

The article must be the original work of the author (and not AI-generated), must not have been previously published, and must not currently be under consideration by another publication. If it contains material which is someone else's copyright, the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner must be obtained and evidence of this submitted with the article and the material should be clearly identified and acknowledged within the text. The article shall not, to the best of the author's knowledge, contain anything which is libellous, illegal, or infringes anyone's copyright or other rights.

Copyright shall be assigned to the International Bar Association (IBA) and the IBA will have the exclusive right to first publication, both to reproduce and/or distribute an article (including the abstract) throughout the world in printed, electronic or any other medium, and to authorise others (including reproduction rights organisations such as the Copyright Licensing Agency and the Copyright Clearance Center) to do the same. Following first publication, such publishing rights shall be non-exclusive, except that publication elsewhere will require permission from and acknowledgment of the IBA. Such permission may be obtained from the IBA Director of Content at editor@int-bar.org. The rights of the author will be respected, the name of the author will always be clearly associated with the article and, except for very minor editorial changes, no alteration to the article will be made without consulting the author.
