Sustainability in shipping

In the Paris Agreement of 2016, the signatory states committed to the goal of limiting global warming to well below 2, preferably to 1.5 degrees Celsius, compared to pre-industrial levels. What is the shipping industry doing to meet the Paris Agreement targets?

In this session we will look at both formal regulations and private initiatives to reduce greenhouse gas emissions from maritime transportation, such as the IMO's 'Initial Greenhouse Gas Strategy', setting the targets for reduction in CO2 and greenhouse gas emissions by 2030 and 2050 respectively. We will also examine the EU's 'Fit for 55' package, which aims at reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 55 per cent by 2030 and achieving carbon neutrality by 2050. A number of private initiatives, such as the Poseidon Principles, Getting to Zero Coalition and others will also be discussed. An important part of these discussions is what role new types of fuel, as well as transition to other forms of energy resources, will play in the future.

Electronic bills of lading – what are they, how do they work and what next?

Electronic bills of lading are increasingly in demand. With several new products being launched over the past two years, the number in use is rising quickly. Although electronic bills of lading have been available for many years, developments with blockchain technology and its recent uptake in the container industry have created new opportunities, which are perhaps long overdue. This session will look at the legal principles behind electronic bills of lading, how they work in practice and the impact of existing and proposed new legislation on this rapidly developing area of law.

There will be issues of both law and fact, with a preliminary legal issue to be determined before a tribunal of three experienced arbitrators. The factual witnesses will also be cross-examined during the 90 minute session, and delegates will be able to access the case scenario beforehand.

Conference sell-outs

The IBA places its conferences in venues of a suitable size for each event; however, there are times when our conferences may sell out. Should this happen, prospective delegates will be informed and a waiting list will operate. The waiting list will function on a 'first come, first served' basis, subject to receiving registered delegate cancellations. The waiting list for a conference will close once it has reached ten per cent of the conference venue capacity, as it is very unlikely a place will become available. The IBA will not be liable for any travel or accommodation expenses incurred by an individual who travels to a conference without a confirmed place at the event.

Cancellation of registration or social functions

If cancellation is received in writing at the IBA office by 6 May, fees will be refunded less a 25 per cent administration charge. Refunds will be made minus any monies owed to the IBA.

We regret that no refunds can be made after this date. Registrations or social function bookings received after 6 May will not be eligible for any refund of fees. Please note that the IBA will however offer a full refund if you are required to cancel your registration due to Covid related reasons; we will require written confirmation of your cancellation by the end of business on the first day of the conference.

Should you have difficulties in obtaining your visa and are not able to attend the Conference this cancellation policy will still apply.

Upon submission of your completed Conference registration form to the IBA you are considered 'registered' pending payment. Please note that the cancellation terms and conditions as indicated will apply as soon as your registration is received.

Provided you have cancelled your registration to attend an IBA Conference in accordance with the terms of the 'cancellation of registration' clause included in the 'Information' section of the relevant Conference programme, you must then confirm to us in writing at the IBA office as soon as possible, but in no event later than one year (12 calendar months) from the date of any such Conference, all necessary details to enable any reimbursement owed to you to be paid. We regret that no refunds will be made after the date that is one year (12 calendar months) after the date of the relevant Conference.

Travel arrangements and visas

Participants are responsible for making their own travel arrangements. It is recommended that you check your visa requirements with your local embassy or consulate. We are unable to dispatch visa invitation letters to support your visa application prior to receipt of your registration form and full payment of registration fees.

International Bar Association

the global voice of the legal profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information, enabling them to better represent their clients' interests.

Through its various committees, fora and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Maritime and Transport Law Committee Overview

The Maritime and Transport Law Committee is one of the oldest and most established committees of the IBA. Formerly known as Committee A, it has more than 650 members worldwide.

The Committee has a tradition of being the platform where leading maritime law professionals meet, create connections and discuss the most current legal issues in the field of maritime and transport law.

The Committee arranges a number of sessions on developments in maritime and transport law at the annual conferences of the IBA. Frequent mid-year seminars are held in the world's maritime centres, and the Committee is also active in cooperating with other organisations in the maritime law area, such as Comite Maritime International, International Maritime Organization and maritime law societies in jurisdictions around the world.

The Committee works for and supports the unification of maritime and transport law on a worldwide basis.

The Committee enables members to: increase knowledge of maritime and transport issues throughout the world; improve client advice; meet fellow practitioners face-to-face; and become known to other competent specialists. The Committee works with the Aviation Law Committee to form the Maritime and Aviation Law Section.

IBA Asia Pacific Regional Forum Overview

The Asia Pacific Forum offers fantastic opportunities to establish contact with legal experts in and outside of the region, practising in many different areas of law, and to keep abreast of legal business developments in the region.

In addition to offering an unrivalled opportunity to establish contact among lawyers within and outside the region, and with acknowledged experts on different areas of law, specialist Forum activities provide an unparalleled opportunity to keep abreast of legal business developments in the region. Members also benefit from excellent working relations with national Bars, the Inter-Pacific Bar Association and LAWASIA.
